Not in our recollection has there been a game in which penalities were so frequent. Overanxiety on the part of the men, the slippery condition of the ball and the uncertain footing surely had something to do with this, but from the spectators' standpoint it marred the conflict and made it slow, doubly slow because of the horit marred the conflict and made it slow, doubly slow because of the horrible state of the weather. When it comes to a question of the cost in yards to the respective teams, it is probably a standoff. Georgetown lost half the distance to the goal for each of the offenses because of slugging. Virginia, on the other hand was frequently penalized for holding and for offside, the penalties varying from five to fifteen yards.

Move to Cancel Game Popular at Virginia

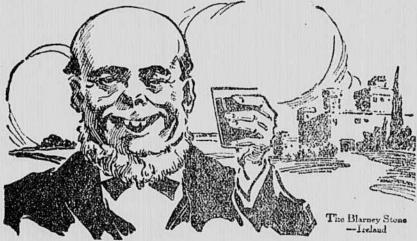

BY GUS MALBERT.

Washington, D. U., November 15.— Neither Dr. W. A. Lambeth, head of athletics at the University of Virginia, nor flice Warren, coach of the University of Virginia's football team, would say anything re-garding breaking of relations with Georgetown after the game between these two institutions to-day. That the move to do away with the Georgetown game is popular at Virginin is proved by the ntillide of the student body. Many prominent undergraduates and many equally prominent alumni say unqualifiedly that until Georgetown is willing to accept the burden of truth regarding athicties by living up to the eligibility rules. Virginia should cease relations.

The eligibility rules at the Hilltop are all right. There is no kick ngainst them, but, necording to Virginia adherents, there is a way these cules and violating them, in spirit, if not in letter. The game is highly profitable to both schools, and is certainly one of the biggest, if not the biggest, athletic event in the South. Virginia, however, eard, which will take the place of the Georgetovu game, and the ath-letic authorities at Charlottesville feet that the Harvard game would be equally as profitable as the Georgetown event. Georgetown, on the other hand, would have to arrange a new game, meaning a con-siderable loss of money.

thing up its sleeve for Virginia—no joke meant—was given more than passing credence to-day. Likewise the best on Georgetown field, were worse fact that Georgetown trains singly for the purpose of defeating Virginia seems to be borne out. Two games have been won by Georgetown this season, one from the Medical College of Virginia and the other from Randelph-Macon. The Catholics have lost to the Indians, to the Navy, to North Carolina A. and M. and to West Virginia Wesleyan, but they may well forget all of these defeats in view of what they achieved to-day—a victory over the best team in the South, and a better team than any of those defeating in the Hilltoppers, with the exception of the Navy.

It is merely another illustration of the uncertainty of football, along with other branches of sports. They are wild here to-night. The calendar is clean, and there is but one thing on the state at the Hilltop. That one thing joke meant-was given more than best on Georgetown field, were worse

VIRGINIA-GEORGETOWN GAME TOLD IN DETAILED STORY

Virginia and Carolina

May Number Players

BY GUS MALBERT. Washington, D. C., November 15.If Carolina is willing, the Tarbeels If Carolina is willing, the Tarheels and the Virginia gridiron warriors will be numbered on Thanksgiving Day, so that the layman may tell what is going on. Dr. W. A. Lambeth, head of athleties at the university, said to-night that he felt sure Virginia would be willing to experiment with the funovation. All that is needed is Carolina's consent. The idea will be to number the players consecutively, and have seen players consecutively, and have each player's number sewed on the back of his jersey. A program will be printed, carrying the corresponding numbers, with the player's name and his school and position. The adoption of this policy will do much to popularize the game in Rich-mond, it is thought.

WINS GOOD GAME

Scored Seven Points on Highland Park in Last Three Minutes of Play.

In the last three minutes of play esterday afternoon the Barton Heights football crew pulled out from the bottom and won from the Highland Park eleven by a score of 7 to 6. The game was played at Byrd Park, and was declared by many of the witnesses to be the fastest and hardest fought game ever played at Byrd Park by amateur elevens. The Highland Park cleven started the game in a whirlwind fashlon, making its first touchdown before the Barton Heights boys could wake up. The goal was missed, however, which later proved to be a lucky thing for Barton Heights. The ball was kept in the middle of the field for the rest of the quarter, as it was for all of the second and third quarters, but in the last three minutes of the last quarter, the Barton Heights cleven started afresh, and before the Highland Park team realized just what had happened, a touchdown and a goal had been scored, giving Earton Heights a victory by the score of

In the first quarter, P. Quarles, of the Highland Park team, got a for-ward pass and carried the ball twenty yards for the first touchdown. The goal was missed, and the score stood 6 to 0, with the ball, after the kick, still in the possession of the Highland Park lads. The second and third quarters were hard-fought ones, and when the time was , called, which ended the third period, the ball was in the Highland Park possession, and on the Barton Heights thirty-five-yard line, The Barton Heights cloven strengthened in the last few minutes of play and after having held the opposing team fer downs, Beck was
